

RESTORATIVE ACTIONS

is an economic equity initiative born from the intersection of theology, justice, and economics.

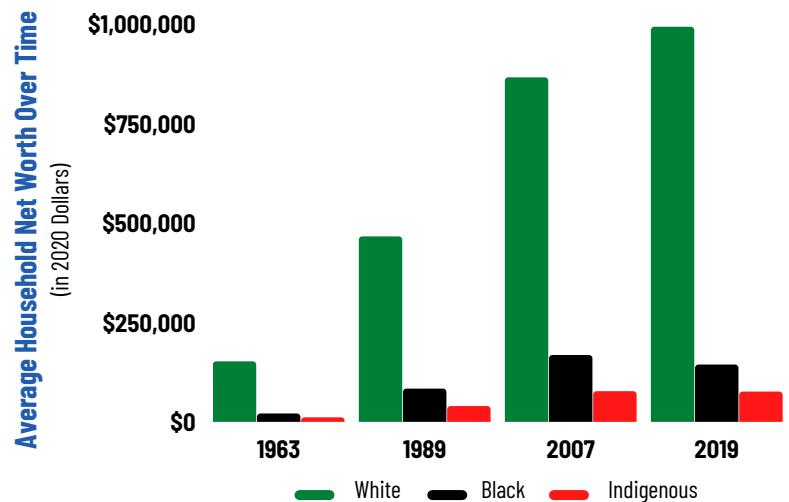

Surrendering wealth for mutual well being

DO YOU KNOW?

RACIAL WEALTH GAP

Over the last half century, the wealth held by individual white households has grown exponentially, while the wealth of Black and Indigenous households have experienced much more modest growth followed by modest decline in the last 15 years.

In the last 30 years the racial wealth gap has over tripled to $13 trillion.

What can you do?

AN INVITATION

The only way we're going to change this reality is if we start TALKING ABOUT IT and then TAKING ACTION to change it.

We encourage you to start talking about the racial wealth gap in your community and your ministry context. Ask question like: On whose land is our building built? Where do we see systemic inequities in our community? And most importantly: How can we use our resources to affect change?

ONE AVENUE

Restorative Actions is one avenue for mid-councils, congregations, and individuals to examine their assets, determine what portion of their wealth can be attributed to white supremacy, and to surrender that amount toward the establishment of just relationships with Afro-American & Indigenous communities.
